ties at washing whatever to be within my own personal distilkes exist the Cabinet. The THES AT WASHINGTON. between the members of the Cabinet. The President, in the main, cultivates the intimacy and perhaps approves the councils of Mr. Sew ard, but he is exhibiting a rude vigor of his own-rude because it is displayed openly-which proves that he can reduce his cabinet to what it really is according to the American the-ory—a mere board of heads of departments who may be asked their opinions of any matter as smice carries by the President, or who may be put on one side if he pleases. Mr. Seward, wise in his generation, confines his attention to the onerons business of his own department at others of his colleagues distinguished then ceives by an unlucky assiduity in tormenting themselves with the affairs of departments which do not belong to them, and "everything by turns and nothing long" are the toredes of every plank in the ship of State. Mr. Lincoln, who has a right to go every where, (and do everything he likes apparently, vinces a solicitude natural enough in all that i going en in the army, the navy, and the other brunches of the public services and has lately turned his attention to the subject of big guns nd ordnance. It would surprise an English man, whose notions of the functions of a Predent, founded on the popular idea that they wer those of a milder sort of chief magistracy than that which we have the happiness to possess, probably restricted his powers to that of veto o approval, by signature, of acts of Parliamer and the sending of messages, to be told that Mr Lincoln is not only the head of the army and mayy, but that, in such questions as the propriety of relieving Fort Smater by a military and naval expedition, the Illinois lawyer studied books, heard arguments on both sides, and finally determined on the course to be pursued Pray observe with what subtlety the southerners have acted, in the language they have used in familiar correspondence and in the press, when speaking of the United States. They never menion the name of the ex-great republic. The United States army is to them "Lincoln's merconaries;" the United States navy is "Lincoln's war ships," and so on through all the varieties of Lincoln's "hordes," "barbarians," "Yan hees," "savages," etc. They endeavor to fix or the President the direct personal responsibility of the whole conflict, and to restrict the agents

he uses in waging it to the Yankees of the Nev The mass of the South are fighting for a Union of their own, to which they have insenably transferred their loyalty and their national ing, which unquestionably is great, in the old flag, and believe they are fighting against an allen enemy-one Abraham Lincoln-who aided and abetted by the powers of darkness and their Yankee co-efficients. And yet I have reason to believe Mr. Lincoln is one of the mo moderate men in the section of his own Cab not which looks to internal politics, and that, in the present distracting discussions, he generally inclines to the view that the North is no coaking a war against slavery, and that the re-sults of her success need not be the liberation of the negro. Mr. Blair, who is a downrigh covenanter of the American sort, and wit whom the southern slaveholders are sons of Belial-"a sword of the Lord and Gideon" man, who could smite Philistines hip and thigh has a great influence, derived from ness of his head, his persistency, and the rigid y of his principles among his party; but his etrines would most likely end in confinie the United States to the original New Englan scattlements, or in establishing a dictatorshi sating on bayoners. What prelacy, paper and monarchy were to the men of the first co ure to Mr. Blair. Nor are they less so to Mr. react solid brain in the Cabinet, but who had to objection at one time to let the South go it liked, believing that the system on which was founded must be in the end, and that no

O will the leaders of divisions be permitted to carry on operations in the ice and snow, remem bering the great success of Washington after the traject, which is so often represented in bad en-gravings all over North America? It is obvonaly the interest of Beauregard to strike great blow before winter sets in, and the sengthen the base for negotiations; but Gas IcClellan, I am satisfied, will not move a mar becan help it until the very end of this mout or the beginning of October. About that time there will be kind inquiries about the second fifty millions of the loan, and no doubt increase vigor on the part of those who are opposed to th war. But it Gen. McClellan obtains any very stroke to break through the shell with which the Confederates have covered their soft parts in the interior of the States, some measure short of cession and independence may satisfy them and when they are menaced with destruction they may put up with an offer to live on fair

Of the ultimate power of the Northern and Western States to subjugate the second States in the South, if they put forth all their strength and means by sea and land, I have no doubt whatever. The South must die of atrophy after time, if every channel of line is shut to it. By the end of this month the United States wil have a large fleet on the coasts and on the rivers, and I have reason to think that an expedition vill be organized also to attack the Texas secesonists from the West-far as that is away. The condition to which the ockade has reduced many classes in the South bad enough-it will become worse. Tea, co ee, and clothing, are nearly exhausted, or have is the American phrase has it, "given out," b use there is none to give out at all. Lead alphur, and salt, are very scarce. Shoes, flanquinine, beef and butter, cloth, tin, and leather, are in the same category. If the block-ade be enforced, the distress and want of all hings, save natural produce, will be intense.

TROUBLES IN THE CREEK NATION om the Little Rock True Democrat.] The abelitionists feel that, in losing the Indian nations, they have let a bird loose. They are aking efforts to neutralize the action of Gen Pike, and have succeeded in getting a number the Creeks to array themselves in oppos the Southern Confederacy. To this end they have promised payment of all the annuities the few who would join them, and the ald of thousands of Kansas ruffians. The following letter was sent to Gen. Pike :

CAMP PLEASANT, Sept. 4., 1861. GEN. Your obedient servant, D. M McIntoni,

Col. C. C. R. The following editorial from the Fort Smith cones and Herald, shows that Gen. McCullock has taken prompt measures to crush out this outbreak:

Hopothleholylo, one of the chief leaders of the old Creek party, is at the head of 1700 men, ear the Creek Agency, in arms against the South. They have ordered the Confederate fis to be taken down, which was raised by McInand several hours after—with a grim satisfac-tion in being a chosen instrument—I speak, or red 1100 Cherokees, 500 Osages, 1000 Creeks. nd a battalion of Col. The New York correspondent of the Phila elphin Ledger says: The mutations of journalism in this city, since the commencement of the war have certainly been of a very marked character. First, th Morning Express stopped; then the good old Churchman, that had been the pet organ of the High Church Episcopalians for nearly a quart of a century, gave up the ghost for want of sup-port; then followed the Courier and Enquirer; then the Irish American; then the Daily News and then the Day Book. To save itself from similar fate, the Journal of Commerce curtailed its dimensions, and so did the Daily Times.
